

“God is really powerful, too.” I said.
“He’s the strongest, fastest superhero ever.”

“He must be,” Emily agreed, “to make the whole world.”

“Maybe it was easy for Him. The Bible says He opened His mouth and the planets and stars appeared, just like that.”

“You mean like we blow these bubbles?”

I laughed.

“Is anything too hard for God?” Emily asked.

“I don’t think so. He’s greater than anything or anyone in the whole world.”

*“The heavens were made when the Lord commanded it to happen.
All of the stars were created by the breath of his mouth.
He spoke, and the world came into being.”*

PSALM 33:6, 9
